"The past two years have found me with little time to cultivate an active social life due to a rapid growth in my career and professional life. Since my day is long work-wise and my job is demanding - there is little time left to seek the social life that I would like. That's where Together came in. I respected their honesty, integrity and professionalism from the very start. As a result, I have met several people with the same interests and goals in life - not to mention the great times we have shared. Indeed, Together has filled a very important part of my life."

Together is the nation's largest Personal Introduction Service, with over 40 offices. We don't use computers, video tapes or any other gimmicks. We do use a personal interview with one of our trained counselors.
